

I support RM-10785. The FCC must abolish all Morse code requirements and not let any organization or group of elite organizations stop them from doing so. This undemocratic process of rule making has been going on too long, and violates many just and honest principles in our society. Why do we violate the rights of handicap people (tone deaf) who are supposedly now protected by the Constitution? Why are governmental decisions being made by the largest Ham lobby on earth, the ARRL? Why must the US fall behind other countries that are abolishing the code and allowing full HF usage to their no-code operators? Will the last American Ham say goodbye using his cell phone, or her computer?

Terrence Glass, N0YXE